

Bedroom Vastu Checklist

Traditional teachers place more weight on the bedroom than on any mantra for a couple. Work through this list once — most of it takes a single evening — then keep the last item forever.

The bed

- ☐ Head towards the south or east — never north
- ☐ One single mattress, not two joined together
- ☐ Bed solid, unbroken, not creaking
- ☐ Nothing stored underneath it
- ☐ Not directly in line with the door
- ☐ No beam running above it

Mirrors

- ☐ No mirror facing the bed
- ☐ No cracked mirror anywhere in the house

Take out of the room

- ☐ Images of gods and goddesses
- ☐ Photographs of family members who have passed
- ☐ Pictures of water — waterfalls, rivers, the sea
- ☐ Images of violence, war, or a single lone figure
- ☐ Files, work papers, boxes, laundry

And the one that matters most

Never argue in the bedroom — and never go to sleep in the middle of a fight. Move it to another room, or better, to the next morning.

- ☐ Television and laptop — and phones, if you can
- ☐ Anything broken or not working

Bring into the room

- ☐ Light warm colours — pink, cream, peach, light green
- ☐ Things in pairs: two pillows, two lamps, a picture with two figures
- ☐ Fresh flowers
- ☐ A clean, pleasant fragrance
- ☐ Soft lighting, not harsh white tube light

Around the house

- ☐ Entrance clean, well-lit, uncluttered
- ☐ Every leaking tap fixed
- ☐ No dirty dishes left overnight
- ☐ North-east corner clean, light and open
- ☐ South-west heavy and stable
- ☐ A tulsi plant, watered daily, lamp at dusk
- ☐ Dead or dried plants removed
